13. That the Popes and the Bilhops indulgences be bu= profitable, neither canthey profite them, to whom they be genen by any meanes.

14. That the laity is not bound to obey the prelates what to ever they command, butes the prelats do watch to gene

Bod a infraccount of the foules of them.

15. That Images are not to be lought to by pilgrimages, neither is it lawfull for Christians, to bow they knees to them, neither to hille them, not to gene them any maner of renevence. Farthe which Articles the Archbilhoppe with other Billiops, and divers learned commoning together, first condemned the bookes as hereticall and burned them The bookes of I. Claidon burned, in fire: and then because they thought the said John Clay= don to be fortworne and fallen into herely, the Archbilhop did proceed to his definitive lentence against the laid John personally appearing before him in indgement (his cofestions being read and depoted againft him after this maner.

The featence & condemnation of John Claido.

N the name of God. Amen. We Henry by the grace of GOD Archbithop of Caunterbury, primate of all England, and Legate of the Apostolicke sea, in a certayne cause of hereticall prauity & of relapse into the same, wherupon I. Claidon lay man of the prouince of Caunterbury, was detected, accused and denounced, & in the fayd our prouince of Caunterbury publickely defamed (as by publick fame and common report notoriously to vs hath bene known)first, sitting in judgement seat & obseruing all things law fully required in this behalfe, do proceed to the pronouncing of the sentence definitive in forme as followeth. The name of Christ being inuocated & onely fet before our eies, for a finuch as by the actes and thinges enacted, producted, exhibited and confessed before vs, also by divers fignes & evidences we have found the said Iohn Claydon to haue bene and to be publickly and notoriously relapfed agayne into his former herefye, heretofore by him abiured:according to the merites and defertes of the fayd cause, being of vs diligently fearched, weyed and pondered before, to the inter that the fayd I. Claidon shall not infect other with his scab, by the consent and assent of our reverend brethre Richard Bishop of Lodon, Iohn Bishop of Couentry and Liechfield, & Steuen Bishop of S.Dauids, and of other Doctors as well of divinity as of both lawes, and also of other discreet and learned men assitting vs in this behalfe, do iudge, pronounce, and declare the sayd I. Claydon, to be relapsed agayne into his herefy, which he before did abitre, finally and definitiuely appoynting him to be left vnto the secular indgement, and so do leaue him by these presents.

comitted to the tecular power.

Tohn Claidon

The law de com burendo, intuficient.

The death and mastirdome of John Claidon.

Thus John Claidon receiving his indgement & con= demnation of the Archbishop, was committed to the secular power, and by them britisly a bulawfully was comitted to the fire, for that the tepozall magistrate had no such law lufficient to them to burne any luche man for religion condened of the prelats, as is about fufficiently proued & declared pag. 523. But to be fhort, Quo iure quaque iniuria, John Cleydon norwithflanding by the temporall magy= firats, not logater, was had to finithfield, where meetely be was made a burnt offering buto the Logd.an. 1415.

The burning of John Claydon, and Richard Turming.

Robert Fabian, and other Chronologers which follow I. Claidon, him, adde also that Richard Turming Baker, of whome Richard mention is made before in the examination of John Claydon, was likewise y same time burned with him in smith = marties, field. Albeit in the Register I finde no sentence of condem= nation genen against the layd Aurming, neither yet in the flory of S. Albons is there any fuch metro of his burning made, but only of the burning of John Llaybon afozefaid: wherfore the indgement hereof I leave free to the reader. Motwithstanding, concerning the layd Turming thys is certaine that he was accused but o the bishops, a no doubt was in their handes, & bands. what afterward was done with him, I refer it bitto the authors.

The next yeare after the burning of these two aforesaid and also of John Bus being burnt at Constaunce, whiche was an. 1416. the Piclates of England fring the dayly in= crease of the Bospell, and fearing the ruine of they papall kingdome, were builty occupied with all they couniel and diligence, to may may ne the fame. wherefore to make their face and kingdome live, by flatutes, lawes, conflictions, and terrour of punishment, as Thomas Aruncell and o-ther lordates had done before, so the forenamed Benrye Chichelley Archbilhop of Canterbury, in his convocation holden at London, maketh another constitutio (as though there had not enough bene made before ) agaynit the poore Lollardes: the coppy and tenoz wherof he lendeth abload, to the bilhop of London, and to other his Suffraganes by them to be put in fraight execution, contenning in words as foloweth.

Chichefley.

{ Anno } { 1416. }

Henry by the grace of Bod Archbilhop of Canterbury, Ex Regift. Primate of all England, and Legate of the chiefeft leat: Chiefefte. to our renered brother in the Lord Richard, by the grace of 217. Bod billiop of London, health, a brotherly lone, with con tinuali increase. Lately in our last connocation in Saynce Paules Church in London, being kept by you and other our brethren and clergy of our prounce, we do remember to have made this order underwritten by your confentes, when as among many other our cares this ought to be chiefe, y by some meanes we take those heretickes, whiche like fores lucke & hide thelelues in the Lordes vinevard: & that the buft of negligece may be btterly fhake from our feete and from the feete of our fellow bacthaen: In thys the layd connocation of the Potelats and clergy, we have orderned, and that our fellowe brethien, our Suffragancs and Archdeacons of our province of Canterbury by thesclues, their Officials of Commillarges in all their inrildictios. & enery of their charges in they country, twife enery yere at the leaft, do diligetly enquire of fuch persons as are suspect of herely: And that in every luche their Archdeacouries in enery parily, wherin is reported any hereticks to inhabit, they cause three or more of the honestest me and best reported of, to take their othe upon the holy Enangeliff, that if they shall knowe or understand any frequenting either in pring conneticles, or els deferring in life or maners fro the common conucrtation of other Catholick men, or cle that holde any, either herefyes of errols, of els that have any fulpected bokes in the English tong, or that do receive a= ny fuch persons suspect of heresyes and errours into they? houses, or that be fauorers of them that are inhabitants in any such place, or conversant with them, or els have any re courle buto them: they make certificats of those persons in writing: with all the circumstances wherewith they are fulpect, unto the laid our Suffraganes of Archdeacons, or to they! Commissives, so some, a with as much speede as possibly they can: And that the sayd Archdeacon and energy of their Commillarges aforclayd: do declare the names of all fuch persons denounced together with all the circustiaces of the, the dioces, & places, & feccelly under they leales bo lend outer unto us the lame: And y the lame biocessans effectually direct fouth lawfull proces agaynth them, as the quality of the cause requireth, athat with all diligence they difcerne, define and execute the fame.

And if perhaps they leave not fuch persons could but o the fecular court, yet not with standing let them commit the buto the perpetuall of temporall prisons, as the quality of the cause shall require, butil the next connocation of pic= lates and Clergy of our province of Canterbury, there per fonally to remaine and that in the same pilons they cause the to be kept according as the sawe requireth: And that of all and fingular the things aforclayd, that is, what iniquis fition they have made, and what they have found, and how in the processe they have behaved themselves, and what persons so connect they have caused to be put in safe ker= ping, with what diligence of negligence of the Commillatyes aforelayd, with all and all maner of other circumstans ces premiled, and therunto in any wife apperteining, and specially

You should be better occupied to fhake of the duste from your duity pulpets. Twife cuery yeare to enquire for ollardes Against prinic conuenticles. To differ fro thecommon fort in life and maners, against the popes lawe. Against Englishe bookes.